OFB Ag Management Conference in Salem

Farmers and ranchers are invited to attend the Oregon Farm Bureau (OFB) Ag Management Conference, presented by the OFB Young Farmers & Ranchers Committee (YF&R), set for Tuesday, Dec. 6 at the Salem Convention Center in Salem.

“We designed the conference to be worthwhile for people who know how to farm, but who want to learn more about the management side,” said YF&R Chair Jason Flowers, who raises hay, grain, and cattle in Klamath County.

Presentations at the daylong conference include:

- How to keep your farm in compliance with constantly changing rules and regulations
- Farm loans in the 21st Century
- How to motivate farm employees
- Best farm safety practices
- Smart farm management strategies

The cost is $30 for Farm Bureau voting and supporting members, and $50 for non-members and Farm Bureau associate members.

Lunch is included.

Find the agenda and registration form at oregonfb.org/yfrconference. Please register by Nov. 14.

The state’s largest general farm organization, Oregon Farm Bureau (OFB) is a grassroots, nonpartisan, nonprofit organization representing the interests of the state’s farmers and ranchers in the public and policymaking arenas. First established in Oregon in 1919, Farm Bureau is organized in all 36 counties and has 7,000 member families that are professionally engaged in agriculture.

Oregon Farm Bureau President Barry Bushue is a third-generation farmer raising a variety of vegetables and berries at a nearly century-old farm near Boring, Oregon. He is OFB's 15th president.
