FARM BUREAU PROGRAMS

Young Farmers & Ranchers Program: YF&R is a group within Farm Bureau specifically for agriculture producers between the ages of 16 and 35. The focus is on improving leadership skills, networking, agriculture advocacy, travel — and having fun!

OFB Scholarships: At the state and county level, Farm Bureau awards about $80,000 worth of scholarships to students every year. Many have deadlines starting in March.

Ag Education, Health & Safety, & Women’s Advisory Council: These volunteer-led committees focus on outreach and education about Oregon agriculture to the general public and provide useful resources and workshops to Farm Bureau members.

Oregon Century Farm & Ranch Program: This agricultural heritage program recognizes Oregon farm and ranch families who have worked the same land for at least 100 years. A Sesquicentennial Award is open to family farms and ranches in operation for at least 150 years.

Summer Ag Institute: SAI is a three-credit, week-long, graduate-level class through Oregon State University that educates K-12 teachers about Oregon agriculture and how to incorporate agriculture into classroom lesson plans.

FEELDS: OFB’s Farm Employer Education & Legal Defense Service (FEELDS) offers human resource management consulting to help agriculture employers and a legal defense benefit for certain types of demand letters.

For information about these programs and Oregon Farm Bureau, please visit OregonFB.org or call OFB at 800.334.6323.

2021 COLORING CONTEST WINNER

Congratulations to Brooke Glaser, age 16, of Shedd for winning 1st place overall in the 2021 OFB Coloring Contest. Brooke’s artwork (above) earned her a cash prize and inclusion in this Oregon’s Bounty Calendar.

The 2nd place overall winner was Gracie Godfrey, age 9, of McMinnville, and the 3rd place overall winner was Dublin Jensen, age 10, of Bend.

Additional age division winners were Martin Curley, age 6, of Redmond and Landon Burke, age 3, of Sisters.

Thank you to the many artists who entered the 2021 coloring contest, which was organized by the OFB Ag Education Committee.

Find the 2022 coloring contest entry form at OregonFB.org/coloringcontest.
How to use your Farm Bureau membership benefits: Get the instructions immediately after registering on the members-only website at members.OregonFB.org. Or request an instruction sheet by emailing heather@oregonfb.org with the name your Farm Bureau membership is under — or call OFB at 800.334.6323.

At Farm Bureau, we are proud to represent and advocate for Oregon’s farm and ranch families to keep them viable, vital, and sustainable.

No matter the amount of acreage worked, farming method used, or number of animals raised, Oregon’s farmers and ranchers share core values: a deep respect for the land, an incredible work ethic, and an immense pride in their work.

Oregon is a specialty crop state, which means we have farmers who grow crops for seed, as well as nuts, fruits, vegetables, and foliage.
Agriculture is a fascinating blend of cutting-edge technology and the timeless tradition of growing crops out of the soil.

2022 CALENDAR
FROM OREGON FARM BUREAU

Oregon Farm Bureau is a grassroots, nonpartisan, nonprofit organization representing farm and ranch member families in the public and policymaking arenas. With county roots dating back to 1919, OFB was established as a statewide organization in 1932.

OFB’s primary goals are to promote educational improvement, economic opportunity, and social advancement for our members and Oregon’s agriculture and natural resources communities as a whole.

Farm Bureau believes that all of Oregon’s 220-plus agricultural commodities, differing farming methods, and spectrum of operation sizes are valuable and essential for helping farms and ranches remain viable, vital, and sustainable.

Proudly working on behalf of over 6,500 farm and ranch families, Farm Bureau is dedicated to protecting, promoting, and strengthening Oregon agriculture.
